

Dustin Arnheim discovered his passion for the hospitality industry during college, and has made a successful career for himself in the business since. After growing up in Pittsburgh, he packed his bags and journeyed halfway across the country to Austin, Texas, to attend the University of Texas.

After college, Dustin was recruited by Hyatt Hotels & Resorts. He jump-started his career in Chicago where he received several “Outstanding Production Achievement” awards. Dustin was quickly promoted into a leadership role at the Hyatt Regency Indianapolis where he was named “Manager of the Year” in 2006. In 2007, Visit Indy proudly welcomed him to their sales team with the primary goal of developing Indy’s presence in the Chicago market. Dustin was promoted to associate director of sales in 2011 and to his current role as Director of Sales in January 2012. In 2014, he successfully led his sales team to a record year for Visit Indy and attributes his success to surrounding himself with an amazing team. He added “it also doesn’t hurt working for USA Today’s #1 Convention City!”

While excelling in his profession, Dustin also makes time to volunteer and spend quality time with his family of six. He and his wonderful wife Kristen have four beautiful children - Dylan, 6, Cooper, 4, Claire, 4 months, and Barkley, a lovable goldendoodle. He also enjoys watching sports with friends, cooking up new recipes and traveling the world.